AGI Group Unveils DIY Website for Retractable Awnings, Sun Shades and Pergolas

SARASOTA, Fla. – AGI Group, Inc. announced the launch of its new website, <http://www.AwningTime.com>, featuring Swiss-engineered residential and commercial retractable awnings, sun shades and pergolas, all made in the USA. The do-it-yourself site offers practical tips and tools to help select and install the right awning for any home or business.

“We’re very excited to bring a much needed one-stop resource for retractable awnings, sun shades and pergolas to the market. We’ve searched worldwide for the best products, and are delighted to make them available to our customers.”, said Phil Tyson, CEO of AGI Group.

AwningTime.com’s wide selection of Swiss-engineered designs offers something for every budget, all custom made to order with Sunbrella and Sattler fabrics. All retractable awnings are equipped with powerful telescopic arms to protect against wind gusts, exclusive triangular-mount tubing for exceptional strength, corrosion-free powder coated metal parts, and bearing systems specially designed for smooth operation.

In addition to traditional retractable awnings, the site offers the Pergola Retractable Awning System for locations where wind, rain and sun protection is essential. The system is quick and easy to assemble, with optional remote control for effortless operation.

For those looking for indoor or outdoor sun protection, Mini and Maxi Drop Sun Shades are an elegant, functional choice. Compact construction and stylish housing make these screen shades a practical design element for windows, doors and other areas that require solar protection.

AwningTime.com’s DIY-friendly ordering system walks customers through the selection and purchasing process, providing answers to any questions about awning projection and pitch, wind loads, ground coverage, fabric choices and mounting options, as well as complete installation instructions and CAD drawings.

With over 25 years experience in manufacturing, selling and installing retractable awnings, the creators of AwningTime.com use quality as the number one criteria in selecting retractable awnings that will provide protection and satisfaction for years to come.

Founded in 1997, AGI Group, Inc. is headquartered in Sarasota, Florida. AGI's leadership boasts over 25 years experience in manufacturing and installing retractable awnings. In addition to its www.AwningTime.com site, AGI Group, Inc. provides ecommerce outlets for hurricane and exterior window shutters, retractable screens, tiki torches and lamp fuels, as well as many other home-improvement products.
